

BIG BALL GAME ON WEDNESDAY

Ogden League Team in Danger of a Humiliating Defeat at the Hands of a Country Nine—Boys of North Ogden Filled With Confidence.

The ball game tomorrow afternoon between the Ogden Lobsters of the State League and the North Ogden team of the county league is creating more interest among local fans than any other diamond contest of the season, and it looks as though the largest crowd of the year is going to be on hand to witness it.

A pool is being formed by Ogden fans to cover at two to one all the North Ogden collateral that is forthcoming. Up to the present time fans say that very little county league money has chimed or made itself visible to the naked eye.

"North Ogden people can get all the money they want to cover at one to two," said Dad Gilmin this morning. "There is money around the Goddard and Harrope or the Hamway and Moser clear stores that can be pulled down awfully easy by the North Ogdenites, who feel a hunch that their team is going to win tomorrow's game. Personally, I don't think the county league bunch has a ghost of a chance. They are entirely outclassed and it is a safe bet at three to one on the locals. The North Ogden team has a lot of confidence in its ability to beat us, and it may put up a better game than I figure on."

The report that North Ogden is to use a Pocahontas battery is denied by the county leaguers, who assert that they have the best battery in the state in the person of Shadwick and Snook. Shadwick has certainly been doing some classy work in the box against the county league teams, but just how he will stack up when faced by the state league players is another matter that can't be decided until after the game.

Toner, who will be on the firing line for the locals, and who the North Ogden players believe they will be able to pound out of the box, says that he does not think the county leaguers will be in it for a minute. He says that he had an off day when he pitched against the team for Hooper, and that he did not attempt to throw anything but straight balls.

"I got a three-bagger and two-bagger off Shadwick in three times at bat," smiled the freckled finger, "so I don't believe we will have much trouble in finding their man for some hits."

The Ogden lineup will be without any changes. Lumley will be behind the bat. His fingers, which gave him some trouble in throwing during Sunday's game, are in better shape, and it is expected that the entire team will be in good condition for the contest.

Dad Gilmin intends to take no chances of being humiliated by a defeat at the hands of the county leaguers, and is putting his very best men in the line-up, and every player will call out the best that is in him to capture the game.

The only change in the regular lineup of the North Ogden team will be in the outfield, where Campbell will take the place of Barker.

In order that many clerks and shop workers will have a chance to see the match, the game will not be called until 4:30.

LOUIS PEERY BACK FROM GERMANY

After three years spent in the Mormon mission field in Europe, Louis H. Peery, son of Mrs. D. H. Peery, is again home, having arrived Sunday night. Most of the time that Mr. Peery was in Europe he was laboring in Germany and Switzerland, making his headquarters at different times in Frankfurt, Leipzig and Hamburg.

The returned missionary, though pleased to be again among his old friends in this city, states that he had grown to like Germany, and that of all the cities that he has ever visited he considers Berlin the most beautiful.

"The reports that reached America concerning the banishment of Mormon missionaries from Germany were greatly exaggerated," said Mr. Peery, rather emphatically, feeling that there was some injustice to the foreign workers in many of the newspapers printed at the time of the incident. "The banishment was not of a very serious character. Now the work continues there about the same as before the trouble occurred."

"The banishment affected only the missionaries working in the province of Prussia, and any one banished from Prussia could go to any of the other German states and continue the work. All missionary work in Germany must be done in a more quiet, conservative manner than in other countries. This is true of any kind of propaganda work. Street meetings or meetings in parks, either of a religious or political nature, always have been prohibited, and the missionaries have never attempted to hold such meetings. Attempts to hold public demonstrations by the Socialists of Germany last spring were put down by the police and soldiers."

"In many of the cities of Prussia we still hold meetings in houses and halls without police interference. In fact, the police are in most instances our friends, and the leading newspapers of Germany took a strong stand in our behalf at the time of the banishment. The trouble need occasion no alarm among the parents of the Utah boys in Germany, for even if one is banished he is given plenty of time to get out of the province—from three days to two weeks."

"I met most of the Ogden boys that are in the European field, and they are all doing nicely and enjoying themselves."

"I was not in Prussia at the time of the trouble, but, of course, heard all about it. I left Germany about the middle of July and went to Rotterdam, Holland, where a convention of missionaries from Germany, Holland and England was in progress. There were about 300 workers there. While in Germany I had the pleasure to meet Joseph Scoville and his family, who are touring Europe in an automobile. They expect to sail for home next Saturday. I also met the Eccles families while they were in Germany."

Mr. Peery states that Germany is the most prosperous of all the countries of Europe, and that conditions are improving in the country in many ways.

The young man speaks German very well, and took advantage of his stay in the country to familiarize himself with various institutions and movements which are at present affecting the thought and activity of the German people. He says that the popular feeling is growing more strongly in opposition to the government's restrictions against public meetings and gatherings and that the people are gaining more liberties in many ways than they have ever had before.

SUNDAY CASE IN POLICE COURT

When the case of the city against David Rosenthal and Harry Albert, charged with the violation of the Sunday closing law, was called in Judge Murphy's court this morning, the attorney for the prosecution stated that the complaining witness in the case, W. F. Compton, was away on a vacation that might be of long duration, and that he, therefore, would ask that the case be dismissed without prejudice. It was so ordered.

VIOLATIONS OF SPEED LIMIT

P. R. O'Shea explained to Judge Murphy this morning that he is from Nevada, where a little question of speed with an automobile is not considered, and that if he had violated the laws of Ogden by fast driving he was willing to settle the account.

"If I have done this, Judge, it is up to me to make it right," said O'Shea, "but I did not intend to break the law. Down in Nevada, where I come from, why in a little speed like that there would be nothing to it. I am certain that I was not traveling more than 20 miles an hour, and I don't see how I could go much slower than that."

"You may not have intended to break the law, but you did," said the judge, "and it is up to me to do something toward stopping this excessive speed with motor machines. I will fine you $25. In default of the payment of which you will spend 25 days in the city jail. This speeding must cease."

O'Shea was charged with exceeding the speed limit in his automobile.

last Sunday evening, the testimony showing that he drove his machine along Twenty-fifth street to the depot at a rate of speed not less than 20 miles an hour.

W. F. Compton, charged with obtaining money under false pretense, was not in court to answer, the city attorney stating that he is on a vacation. The case was indefinitely postponed on motion of the prosecuting attorney.

L. Wright changed his plea of "not guilty" to that of "guilty" of exceeding the speed limit with an automobile, and the court took the matter of passing sentence under advisement.

Angus T. Wright, father of the young man, appeared before the judge and explained that the boy was not willfully driving his machine faster than six miles an hour, and that the road was perfectly clear, leaving no chance of do anything any harm.

SHUBERTS WILL OPEN OGDEN THEATER

Tomorrow Night With the "Lottery Man"

Rida Johnson Young's captivating comedy, "The Lottery Man," which has just finished a long engagement at the Bijou theater, New York, will be the opening offering at the Ogden theater tomorrow (Wednesday) night, when the Messrs. Shubert will bring their latest success to this city for the first time. The players include William Russell, Vivian Ogden, May Donahue, Florence Robertson, George Roberts, Lucia Moore and others.

The story is that of a New York newspaper reporter, Jack Wright, who borrows a sum of money from his employer, Foxey Peyton, agreeing in the event he fails to return the loan to supply the paper with the greatest news item it has ever had. Of course the reporter loses the money and proceeds to make his promise good. This he does by inaugurating a lottery, which the paper conducts, with himself as the capital prize. The coupons are sold for a dollar apiece and their sale is particularly large among maiden ladies with a disposition to "take on" a husband. Wright is unencumbered and free, save for a devoted mother. No sooner does he start the lottery, however, than he falls in love with Helene Heyer, and from then on there is a merry war to come into possession of as many of the coupons as money can buy. Wright, of course, wants Miss Heyer, although he realizes that the odds are against him. It develops that Lizzie, an old maid in the household of the Peytons, steals the winning coupon from the cook. Being of a lovable disposition, the "flashes" the number and claims Mr. Wright. Miss Heyer, however, discovers that Lizzie has stolen the coupon. She is threatened with arrest, and to save herself, gives up the ticket.

Mrs. Young, the authoress, has introduced much play and many situations which the mill can make of everyday conditions. Very cleverly and convincingly she shows the futility of battling against the onslaught of old age and the good that can be derived from a happy disposition. The "Lottery Man" was voted one of the genuine successes of the past season.

Seats are now selling at the box office.

BENCH CANAL MUST GIVE UP STOCK

At the meeting of the city council last night, the following communication from the mayor was received: "To the Honorable President and Members of the City Council, Ogden, Utah:

"Gentlemen: The board of directors of the Ogden Bench Canal company has reconsidered its order giving Ogden city all its stock in the company, and on payment of this year's assessment, claiming that the city ought to pay back assessment for several years."

"As Ogden City has always paid its assessments on all stock levied on by the company, and as unissued stock is not assessable, and as the city has not used the water, and as the Bench Canal company had leased the city's water to the Ogden Waterworks company for a large sum of money each year, the city is entitled to its stock without any payment of back assessment."

"I recommend that the city attorney be instructed to immediately bring suit against the directors of the Bench Canal company, compelling them to issue to Ogden city all the stock it is entitled to in the Bench Canal company. Very respectfully submitted (Signed) William Glasman, Mayor."

After the reading of the mayor's communication the council acted upon the matter and unanimously instructed the city attorney to proceed against the Bench Canal company to enforce the city's rights.

TOMATOES A GOOD CROP

The tomato canning campaign is expected to be on in full blast by the last of this week. Most of the canneries are now running on a half-day schedule, but as tomatoes continue to arrive at the plants in great quantities the factories will run more steadily and the force of employees will naturally be increased.

A. L. Brewer did his first canning for the season last Friday, and his factory again opened yesterday. Tomorrow the plant will start regular operations.

The prospects for a phenomenal yield of the fruit this season are continuing to grow brighter, and Mr. Brewer believes that tomatoes will be the best paying crop of the year in the state.

"I believe," said Mr. Brewer, "that the tomato crop is going to eclipse any other crop that is being raised in Utah this season. I say this realizing that many of the other fruit yields are exceptionally large. If I could take you out into the fields and show you vines holding from 80 to 150 tomatoes you would see that the crop this year is going to be worth a whole lot of money to the growers. I repeat what I have said before, that Weber county produces twice as many tomatoes to the acre as any other county in the whole United States."

Other men interested in the tomato industry are as optimistic regarding the season's yield as is Mr. Brewer.

IN POLICE COURT

Andrew Christanson, in police court, stated that he was drunk Monday. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 or serve five days in the city jail.

W. Smith acknowledged to the court that he was begging in Ogden yesterday, but, before sentence was passed, City Attorney DeVine spoke of the actions of the defendant toward the officers, and the court took the matter under advisement. It goes without saying that Smith will be given severe punishment.

Mr. DeVine said that Smith is not only a beggar, but that he is contemptible and mean, and became obstreperous when the officers arrested him. He called bad names and struck Detective Wardlaw in the face at the police station.

Jacob Brown, W. E. Freer, Thomas Rice, W. J. McFarquhar and A. Olson were arraigned on the charge of vagrancy, but the hearing of the cases was postponed until tomorrow morning, when the arresting officer will be in court to testify. The men were placed under a bond of $10 each.

JOHN McDONALD DEAD

Salt Lake, Aug. 16.—Ripe in years and rich in good deeds, John McDonald, Sr., one of the pioneers of Utah, having been a resident of Salt Lake City since 1849, died at 10:15 o'clock Monday morning at his summer home on Browning avenue, of general debility. Mr. McDonald was in his eighty-first year, having been born in April 11, 1830.

John McDonald died much in the way of assisting in the material progress of the city and state of his choice. He was a cabinet maker by trade, and in the early days he manufactured household furniture for many prominent people of the state. During the time that Brigham Young was governor of the territory, Mr. McDonald entered into the manufacturing business, and made various kinds of candy and crackers, his goods finding ready sale. He also became an extensive property owner in this city. When he retired from business, his son, J. C. McDonald, took over the affairs of the concern, and by his efforts has built up one of the largest cocoa and chocolate manufacturing of the West.

John McDonald was born in the town of Lurgan, county Armagh, Ireland, on April 11, 1830. He was the son of John and Rachael Burk Taffe McDonald. Two years after his birth his father and the family emigrated to America, landing in Quebec.

In 1834 the family removed to Philadelphia and in 1837 removed to Pittsburgh. In Pittsburgh the older McDonald and his wife were converted to Mormonism. In 1842 the family moved to Nauvoo. At Nauvoo, while yet a mere lad, Mr. McDonald became acquainted with the Mormon prophet, Joseph Smith. The family at that time lived in a house owned by Joseph Smith.

John McDonald was present in Nauvoo when Joseph and Hyrum Smith were killed and also was present when the word went forth that the Mormons should prepare to move to the West.

When the McDonald family started for the West they had a yoke of year-old oxen and a team of yearling calves as leaders, young John's particular duties being to lead the calves. The family arrived in Salt Lake valley September 19, 1849.

John McDonald was the father of eight children, these being Fannie R. Margetts, John McDonald Jr., Rachael Margetts, James G. McDonald, Junior McDonald, William G. McDonald, Eleanor Chamberlain and George W. McDonald.

Mamie Jordan in police court testified that George Sarus, a Greek, struck her in the face with his fist, August 7, and knocked her down. She said that the Greek came to her place and looked through the window at her. She told him to leave and he struck her. Her friend, Daisy Bowman, said she saw Sarus at the colored woman's window and also saw him strike in the direction of the window, but did not see the fist strike the girl's face. She afterwards picked Mamie up from the floor of the room in an unconscious condition. A doctor was sent for and Mamie's face was treated.

The defendant stated that he was in Pocatello, Idaho, August 7, and had not been in Ogden since last May until Friday, August 12, and that he had never seen the negro woman. He gave a good account of himself for the past few months, but the judge advised that the matter had better be given further investigation before judgment was passed. Both women are negroes and are habitues of the alley.

NOTICE

The Wasatch Gun club will have a meeting next Thursday evening, Aug. 18th, at J. M. Skeen's office, 300 Eccles blk. All members invited to come.

OSCAR COUCH, Secretary.

MONTANA-BINGHAM

What looks like another mammoth Bingham red metal proposition is in prospect of development within the boundary lines of the Montana-Bingham company, the group resting within the aristocratic neighborhood that contains such mines as the Utah Copper and Starless. The Montana-Bingham adjoins the Starless, and across it extends the noted Quinn fissure, which in turn cuts the Starless and Boston Consolidated territory further along.

This fissure has been explored on the Montana-Bingham property by tunnel and a crosscut gave a width of 530 feet, copper assays being had all the way. There is not to exceed 60 to 70 feet of this ore, however, which is of a sufficiently good grade for concentration where it has been explored. At the present time the management is driving a second tunnel which, when the fissure is reached, will give an additional vertical depth of 700 feet, which will be a greater depth by 300 feet than the Starless has so far gained on this vein. The officials are not indulging in speculations for publication regarding what this lower tunnel will disclose in the Montana-Bingham, but their faith is best evidenced in the liberal expenditure of capital to afford a comprehensive idea of what the merits of this group are.

The Montana-Bingham company is composed of Butte, Salt Lake and Bingham capitalists and mining men who have abundant justification for believing Bingham the most inviting mining camp in the world for investment.

CLEW TO MURDERER OF MISS BENIGNUS

Ablene, Kas., Aug. 16.—What is regarded as a significant clue in connection with the supposed murder of Miss Bertha Benignus here Sunday, was discovered today. The merchant's bill head upon which the German note was written was taken from a box on the table in the corner of the girl's room. In this box she kept receipts and private letters.

This is believed to be further evidence in order and to indicate that the murderer engaged in a thorough search of Miss Benignus' effects, probably in an effort to get hold of some document. It also seems evident that he was fairly familiar with the contents of the room.

An immense throng attended Miss Benignus' funeral today, among them Earl Livingston, to whom she was to have been married yesterday.

ELY-CALUMET

That another lease on the estate of the Ely-Calumet Copper company is in high-grade lead-silver-copper ore of an extent which promises to make a mine, is word which comes from Ely. The lease is on the Wild Cat Bush, E. A. Ross and associates began work only three weeks ago. With only one man working, more than five tons of ore have been taken out, and average assays of the product give values of 25.5 ounces of silver, 55 per cent copper and 40.5 per cent lead. More men have been placed upon the work, that development of the excellent prospect may be more rapid.

In the doing of assessment work two years ago a fine quality of copper-silver ore was opened on the Wild Cat near the crest of one of the hills. It was not explored until lately, when the company threw its property open to leasers for the first time. An iron blowout appears on the top of the hill, and the ore opened is thought to be a strainer from the main ledge. Bush and associates are working in a shallow tunnel to get under the blowout and unexpectedly found the high-grade ore in the bottom after running about 20 feet. It has averaged more than a foot in thickness and is found in "short" black lime. It has been followed for about five feet and the tunnel will be continued as planned, while keeping the ore in sight, as it is probably a strainer from the main deposit.

Only a short time ago another set of leasers on the Ely-Calumet opened a large body of ore similar to that found in the Wild Cat claim, and it is understood that arrangements for shipping on a relatively large scale are under way.

RIO GRANDE TRAINS ARE WRECKED

Eastbound passenger train No. 8 of the Denver & Rio Grande, which left here last night, collided early this morning, head-on with a freight train near Woodside, Utah. Engineer Lopez and Fireman L. F. Smith of the passenger train and the engineer of the freight train were slightly injured. They were taken to Grand Junction for treatment.

None of the passengers was hurt. It is expected to have the track clear this afternoon.

BURGLARY IN THE SECOND DEGREE

Thomas Wilson was arraigned before Judge Murphy this morning on the charge of burglary in the second degree, the alleged offense having been committed in the daytime of June 6, 1910.

The complaint is sworn to by an official of the Oregon Short Line company, W. T. Knowles, and it is alleged that on June 6 the defendant broke into a box car belonging to the Oregon Short Line company and stole therefrom sixteen pairs of shoes, valued at $60.

Wilson was advised of his constitutional right to a speedy hearing and to counsel, before being heard in court, and also his right to waive preliminary hearing should he choose to do so. The defendant stated that he desired a preliminary hearing. The court placed him under a bond of $500 pending the examination.

Wilson states that he is not guilty of the offense, and that he is certain when he is given a fair and impartial trial, which he knows he will get at the hands of the courts, his vindication will be established.

BODY TAKEN TO OLD HOME

Frank Irish, formerly of Evanston, Wyo., died in this city Sunday evening of Bright's disease, after an illness of several months. For the past three months Mr. Irish had been in a serious condition, and in a last effort to save his life he was brought to Ogden, where he has been receiving the best medical attention obtainable.

The deceased had been married but two years last June and leaves a wife and one child, fourteen months old. Mrs. Irish was formerly Miss Ira Thomas of this city and is a sister of Mrs. McIntosh. The wife left this morning with the husband's remains for his old home at Farmington, Mich., where the burial will be held. The widow is accompanied by a member of the Railway Firemen, of which organization Mr. Irish was a member.

REVENUES $8,000,000.

Washington, Aug. 16.—It is estimated that revenues for the fiscal year will approach $8,000,000 from the tax on tobacco and cigarettes provided by the Payne-Archer tariff law.

PATTERSON RETURNS HOME

Manager Adam Patterson of the Vineyard Land & Live Stock company, with headquarters in Ogden has returned with his family from their Los Angeles, California, home. Mrs. Patterson and two daughters have spent the winter in the city of the Angels and are in Ogden now for a short visit with relatives and friends.

Last year Mr. Patterson purchased a home in Los Angeles, but he has not sold his Ogden home. He says his family is now desirous of living at Los Angeles, but he is of the opinion that there will come a time when they will want to come back to Ogden and again make it their permanent residence. To this end he is holding the old home in this city.

The latter part of the week Mr. Patterson will go to San Jacinto, Nevada, headquarters in that state for the company he represents, for the purpose of arranging matters regarding the range and farm interests of the company. Mr. Patterson's sons are at the ranch and it is to see them that Mrs. Patterson and daughters will accompany Mr. Patterson. Manager Patterson states that, so far as he knows, things are in good condition at the ranch, but that the calf crop this year will not be as great as in former years, because of the preceding severe winter.

HOW TOO MUCH MILK ON A SHIP

New York, Aug. 16.—Fresh milk in superfluous quantities was enjoyed by passengers on the liner Minnetonka, which has just arrived here from London. Even a milk bath could have been had for a mere song, for after the passengers and the crew had all the milk they wanted each day, there was still so much left over that many gallons had to be thrown into the sea.

From Austin, Nevada.—J. I. Felton, acting forest supervisor of the Tioga be national forest, with headquarters at Austin, Nevada, is in the city for a few days' sojourn with the foresters of the Fourth district. He reports that, generally, conditions are good at Austin. There are but few farms in that section of country, most of the enterprises being along the line of mining and stock raising.

Harold and Kenneth Tripp have returned from a few weeks' vacation at Evanston, Wyoming. They report having spent an enjoyable time.

NATIONAL GUARD IN COLUMBUS

Columbus, O., Aug. 16.—The state house yard is half filled with tents of the First regional camp of the National Guard, who arrived from Cincinnati early today on a call for strike duty by Governor Harmon.

There has been little rioting or serious disorder since the announcement that the troops would again be placed in Columbus. The streets are like a running stream of cars, and schedule time.

ABANDONED IT For the Old Fashioned Coffee Was Killing

"I always drank coffee with the rest of the family, for it seemed as if there was nothing for breakfast if we did not have it on the table."

"I had been troubled for some time with my heart, which did not feel right. This trouble grew worse steadily."

"Some times it would beat fast and at other times very slowly, so that I would hardly be able to do work for an hour or two after breakfast, and if I walked up a hill it gave me a severe pain."

"I had no idea of what the trouble was until a friend suggested that perhaps it might be caused by coffee drinking. I tried leaving off the coffee and began drinking Postum. The change came quickly. I am now glad to say that I am entirely well of the heart trouble and attribute the cure to leaving off coffee and the use of Postum."

"A number of my friends have abandoned coffee and have taken up with Postum, which they are using steadily. There are some people that make Postum very weak and tasteless, but if it is boiled long enough, according to directions, it is a very delicious beverage. We have never used any of the old fashioned coffee since Postum was first started in our house."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."
